

Sean Moore: Director for ACSI Southern Africa

Sean is passionate about authentic Christian Education. He strives to strengthen, equip and empower School Principals for the rigor of leading Christian schools in Southern Africa. He is determined to influence the stakeholders that will reach and transform the lives of the children of Africa. Sean thrives on helping teachers understand and implement this great call to Christ centered education and he also enjoys the privilege of drinking coffee and walking with school leaders.

Sean holds a Diploma in Teacher Education, a Bachelor of Arts (History and Psychology) and a Bachelor of Theology.

Sean is an experienced School Principal, serving in three Christian Schools in South Africa. He has served as the ACSI Regional Director of the Southern Africa office since March 2017.

Sean is married to Cathy, who serves in ACSI as the ECD co-ordinator. They have two children- Gareth, living in Switzerland and Megan, living as an artist in Hilton, KZN.
